

Works In Progress

Not Quite Christmas

Release from Resplendence Publishing — September 8, 2010

A Legend Christmas novella set in 1969.

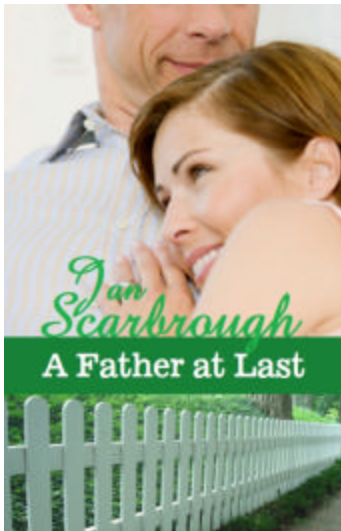

Accountant Frank Smith doesn't want to go home for Christmas, not since he was dumped by his long-time girlfriend on Christmas Day a year ago. Avoiding Legend, Tennessee, is high on his priority list until he meets his mother's houseguest—hippie chick Emmy Johnson, a girl with a past and maybe Frank's future.

This is the story of Frank Smith from A Groovy Christmas. Frank is the father of the Jane in The Reunion Game and Dawn in Santa's Kiss. Frank returns to Legend and finds that his home town is still the place to be.

A Father at Last

Release from Turquoise Morning Press this fall

<http://www.turquoisemorningpress.com/>

Kelly Baron's parenting job is done. Her daughter married, she can start her new life in North Carolina, single and responsible only for herself—but first, she must visit her mother back home in Indiana.

Rob Scott, newly divorced, has returned to his small town roots. Last thing he's looking for is a relationship—until he runs into Kelly, and a secret she's been keeping from him for twenty-one years.

Kentucky Heat, book seven of the Bluegrass Reunion Series

Legend After Dark — paranormal Legend